A LETTER FROM our BOARD CHAIR

Dear Friends,

After serving on the Antaeus Board for many years, I had the honor of stepping into the role of Board Chair in September. I am proud to have the opportunity to help lead such an extraordinary organization, and I am profoundly grateful to my predecessor, David Gindler, for his years of exemplary service. Antaeus would not be where it is today without him, and I am pleased to share that he remains an active member of the Board. David Gindler and Kiki Ramos Gindler will always be cherished members of this community.

As pleased as I am to serve in this new role, my tenure has begun during an unusual and challenging time. The pandemic has been difficult for all of us. This past year was meant to be a time of celebration for Antaeus as we marked our 30th anniversary. Although we were not able to come together in person to mark this important milestone, the generous and inspiring support from our community has given all of us at Antaeus a renewed sense of purpose and deep gratitude.

For the leadership of Antaeus, this past year has served as a time of reflection, recommitment, and innovation. Our most notable accomplishment in the Covid-era was the creation of The Zip Code Plays: Los Angeles, a series that shines a light on the history and cultures of the city. Thanks to the incredible talents of the actors, playwrights, and an extraordinary sound team, this original audio series has reached audiences across Southern California and around the world. We are thrilled that these stories have meant so much to the thousands of people who have enjoyed them. We would not have been able to produce this excellent series without the support of people, like you.

As you read this report, you will learn more about The Zip Code Plays and all the other programming Antaeus artists and staff took on during what would have been our 30th Anniversary Season. Even though the doors have been closed, it was a remarkably successful and busy year. We were able to maintain employment for the entire administrative team while building greater financial stability for the theater's future. We created online programs for artists, audiences, and local students. And we focused effort and attention on centering the vitally important issues of equity, diversity, and inclusion within our organization.

As we look toward reopening in early 2022, there are more challenges that lie ahead. I am confident that Antaeus will rise to meet these new opportunities with strength, creativity, innovation, and a deep sense of value and purpose.

We are very grateful that you have stayed with us throughout this difficult time. Thank you again for your confidence in us, and we hope that you will continue to support Antaeus's work in 2022 and in the future.

I look forward to seeing you at the theater very soon.

Sincerely,

Evie DiCiaccio, Board Chair

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT Theater is a profoundly social act. Antaeus is a gathering place where actors and audiences can come together for a shared experience. We recognize it is important to engage our audiences on and off the stage. Using theater as a catalyst, we stimulate important conversations to nurture understanding and create empathy.

Antaeus strives for diversity through Company membership, Board membership, staff, inclusive casting, choice of artistic material, and through our community engagement. We are a space where all voices are heard.

We approach our conversations with empathy, generosity, and a collaborative spirit to build a lasting foundation that honors our commitments to each other and the company.

ARTISTIC GROWTH We have a thirst for knowledge and are committed to growing as artists. Grounded in classical text and training, we are an artistic home where professional actors can continue to work on their craft amongst their peers. We inspire the next generation of theater artists through performance, education, and outreach.

PROFESSIONALISM Antaeus is a leader in the professional arts community, which is reflected in the quality and vision of our artists, staff, and board members.

CELEBRATING 30 YEARS OF TRANSFORMATIVE THEATER

As part of our celebration of three decades of Antaeus history, we unveiled our new 30th Anniversary Poster Gallery. We collaborated with 15 talented local artists, who created original artwork commemorating some of the most-loved productions brought to life on our stage since our founding in 1991.

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

THE ZIP CODE PLAYS TOUR

As part of the original audio series, Antaeus developed The Zip Code Plays Tour to provide engaging educational resources for audiences to enjoy along with the plays. Visitors can explore each Zip Code in the series with guided tours led by Antaeus actors. Each neighborhood tour highlights local landmarks and history, and features small businesses we partnered with to help us reach audiences in each Zip Code.

More than 5,000 visitors have seen Los Angeles history for themselves through our interactive Tour website (zipcodeplays.org), featuring fun and detailed map illustrations by local artist Cynthia Jacquette.

THE ZIP CODE PLAYS SALONS

Our community Salon series takes audience members behind the scenes of The Zip Code Plays with opportunities to hear from the playwrights, directors, and actors that brought these LA-inspired stories to life.

In addition to hosting playwrights panels for Seasons One and Two, Antaeus presented virtual Salons with a variety of local groups dedicated to serving their neighborhoods. Partners have included the Los Angeles Public Library, Monterey Park Bruggemeyer Library, Westwood Village Improvement Association, and culture organizations such as glendaleOUT.

ANTAEUS BOOK CLUB

Last year, we developed the Antaeus Book Club as a special benefit for our donors and season subscribers. We hosted a total of 11 guided discussions exploring classic plays from our production history, and the entire series featured 15 special guest artists who were part of the play's original casts and creative teams at Antaeus. Book Club Meetings offered a deep dive into the following plays:

Peace in Our Time

The Time of Your Life

Wedding Band: A Love/Hate Story in Black & White

The Wood Demon

Ma Rainey's Black Bottom

King Lear

St. Joan

Mother Courage and Her Children

Top Girls

ARTS EDUCATION

The Antaeus Odyssey Artists' Workshop serves students at five partner sites in Los Angeles: William Tell Aggeler Opportunity High School (in cooperation with Rancho San Antonio Boys Home), The New Village Girls Academy, Herbert Hoover High School, Homeboy Industries, and YWCA of Glendale and Pasadena.

Although in-person classes with our four original partner sites have been paused during the pandemic, this year we started a new virtual partnership with YWCA Glendale & Pasadena's Girls Empowerment program. In Spring 2020, Antaeus Teaching Artists taught weekly, in-depth creative writing classes to a group of local girls ages 10-16. In Summer 2021, Teaching Artists met with three different cohorts in the YWCA Camp Rosie program, offering creative writing workshops to a total of 54 students. We look forward to continuing with YWCA Glendale & Pasadena as a long-term partner, and plan to resume our other Arts Education programs in 2022.

"[Teaching Artists] Ann, Kwana, and Kelsey showed me a different way of writing and it was so much more interesting and fun. Without them, I would not have had so much fun during the pandemic."

-Ivy, Girls Empowerment Program participant

"Thank you so much for this great class and for the inspiration. I loved that Alexandra got to spend time with inspiring ladies like you. She enjoyed every minute and it got us through a really tough time this year. She looked forward to your class every time."

-Daniella, parent

"Thank you so much for this amazing program. Daniela really enjoyed being able to express herself in this way. My high school daughter was also able to participate with Antaeus Theatre a few years ago, when Ann co-taught a Shakespeare class at Hoover HS (she loved it)."

-Ibet, parent

ANTAEUS ACADEMY

In our renowned Academy, celebrated working actors provide high-level training for both aspiring theater artists honing essential skills and seasoned professionals fine-tuning their craft. In 2020/21, we offered 8 unique courses during our Fall, Spring, and Summer sessions; with timely offerings ranging from "The Poetry and Blues of August Wilson" to "Auditioning in a Post Quarantine World."

We also launched a series of public MasterClasses, reaching hundreds of students with virtual educational programming led by renowned scholars and educators including Dakin Matthews and Armin Shimerman.

NEW CLASSICS INITIATIVE

As an artist-driven theater company, we believe in the power and importance of storytellers. They are architects of culture and windows to our history. Great theater demands a multiplicity of voices sharing vast and varying ideas and perspectives. The purpose of our New Classics Initiative is to nurture an inclusive generation of writers, both through our Playwrights Lab – a creative incubator for writers in the LA theater scene – and through a newly developed commissioning program, the NEXT Commissions. Through these programs, we support the creation of extraordinary new plays that will stand the test of time.

We've seen exceptional new work flourish in the supportive environment of our Playwrights Lab, and when we debuted productions of two new plays from the Lab in fall 2019, it was a moment of great pride for our company. Through this process, we experienced first-hand the power of programming dynamic new voices alongside celebrated classics – a combination that contrasts and enhances the impact of both.

We are proud to consider “new classics” a central part of our artistic identity. By supporting the great storytellers of our own time, we are not only creating something of value for the Antaeus community; we are fostering the development of extraordinary art to enrich the wider world of theater for generations to come.

PLAYWRIGHTS LAB

Since 2014, The Antaeus Playwrights Lab has served as an incubator for developing new plays. Lab Members participate in weekly meetings where Antaeus actors bring their newly-written words to life – an invaluable resource when creating new work.

Writers with promising works in development may be offered the opportunity to have their full-length plays explored at our Roundtables. These internal readings are followed by dramaturgical discussions to help guide the final stages of the playwrights' work. Plays considered to have high potential for future production at Antaeus (or elsewhere) may receive Completion Commissions to support their development with additional resources. We then present an annual reading series, LAB RESULTS, where select works from Lab are shared with the public.

Two original works from the Playwrights Lab (The Abuelas and Eight Nights) were produced as part of our 2019/20 season, and during 2020/21, we've produced and shared Lab members' original plays through our acclaimed audio series, The Zip Code Plays.

NEXT COMMISSIONS

The NEXT Commissions, a new play development initiative for BIPOC (Black, Indigenous, and People of Color) playwrights, were created to amplify historically underrepresented voices and to broaden the scope of the classical theater canon. Through this program, writers will develop original, full-length works inspired by, or in response to, classic plays, historical events and figures of their choosing.

A new addition to our enduring, high-quality programming grounded in the classics, NEXT aims to nurture an inclusive generation of writers. Our long-term goal with NEXT is to produce the plays developed within this commission program as part of an upcoming Antaeus season.

In July 2021, we announced the two playwrights selected for the inaugural NEXT Commissions — Zola Dee and Marlow Wyatt. Throughout the commission cycle, both playwrights will continue to receive financial, dramaturgical, and logistical support from Antaeus, with the goal of completing their original, full-length works in 2022.

Zola Dee - Zola Dee is an L.A.-based emerging theater artist, poet and vocalist from Winston-Salem, North Carolina. She believes her work has a strong responsibility to investigate trauma and how it is passed down generationally; the black psyche; mysticism; and ancient spirituality. Her most notable work, Gunshot Medley: Part 1, was published in Routledges Contemporary Plays by Women of Color. Dee was named by Los Angeles Times theater critic Charles McNulty as a front-runner in “a vibrant new era in African-American playwriting.” Other accomplishments include: 2017-2018 Core Apprentice at the Playwright's Center in Minneapolis, where she was recently awarded the Many Voices Fellowship, and 2018 Alliance of Los Angeles Playwrights Diversity Fellow.

Marlow Wyatt - Actor and playwright Marlow Wyatt is a magna cum laude graduate of Howard University's College of Fine Arts. Her plays include SHE, scheduled for a 2022 world premiere by L.A.'s Latino Theater Company; Robbin, from the Hood, a 2021 Eugene O'Neill semi-finalist developed in MADLab with Moving Arts; and Listen, A Black Woman Is Speaking, chosen for the Playwrights Union “Sneak Peek” live reading series. She is a featured playwright in “50IN50: Shattering The Glass Ceiling,” curated by Dominique Morriseau, and in Letters To Our Daughters at the Kumble and Billie Holliday Theaters in NYC and WACO Theater in L.A. She is a 2018 Many Voices Fellowship finalist, a 2018 Howard Players honored alumna, 2016 CTG/Humanitas Playwrights Prize finalist, Long Beach Playhouse New Works winner, a two-time Broadway Cares/Equity Fights AIDS Discretionary Grant recipient, Women In Theatre Red Carpet Award-winner, Pine-Sol/Ebony Magazine Powerful Difference Award-winner and Spirited Woman Grant recipient.
